Allegis Group Finalizes Acquisition of Talent2 in APAC region

The acquisition opens doors for the company in new and global geographic markets.

Hanover, Maryland - July 14, 2014 – Allegis Group, Inc. today announced the completion of its acquisition of Talent2. In September of 2012, Allegis Group formed a joint venture with Morgan & Banks Investments Pty Limited to privatize Talent2.

The acquisition of Talent2 cements Allegis Group's footprint in the Asia Pacific region. With Talent2's strong presence in the Asia Pacific region combined with Allegis Group's dominant position in North America and growing presence in the Europe Middle East Africa (EMEA) region, the organization now has a true global reach.

In the Asia Pacific region, customers will benefit from the strength and expertise of Allegis Group's global network of specialized companies. Local teams will be able to deliver services to customers in their local markets, offering the right kinds of skills and services to best suit their needs.

All Allegis Group businesses in the Asia Pacific region, including Talent2, will continue to operate in that market. The existing leadership of the businesses will remain as well.

Global expansion is a key to Allegis Group's future success, and increasing its footprint in the Asia Pacific market is a critical component of that strategy. Beyond geographic presence, Talent2's commitment to building a culture of high-performing, passionate people aligns with Allegis Group's long-standing philosophy. Both organizations share a common set of values and a commitment to building a dominant human capital management and solutions business globally.

As part of Allegis Group, Talent2 is looking to further strengthen its business in the Asia Pacific region by seeking talent to join the organization. This means actively recruiting to fill a number of roles at all levels in the region with individuals who can help build a long-term business. Current leadership and staff will work together to ensure Talent2 and Allegis Group continue to provide best in class service to clients and candidates around the globe.
